NORTH AMERICA'S NEWEST AUTOMOBILE—the Edsel—will be on display in dealer showrooms throughout Canada on Sept. 11, Ford of Canada announced today. The Edsel will be available in 17 models in four series—the lower-priced Ranger and Pacer and higher-priced Corsair and Citation. The distinctive appearance of this new line of cars, which makes them clearly identifiable from front, rear and side, is evident in these photos of the Citation hardtop and convertible (top) and Corsair four-door hardtop.

Council Approves Building Permits; Approximate Almost $25,000

LAC LA BICHE — At the regular meeting of the town council held Aug. 27, four building permits were approved. Included were three dwellings to cost $12,000, $10,000 and $2,500 each, and a private garage to cost $400.

One resident was given tentative approval for an extensive addition to an existing dwelling, with a permit to be applied for later when plans are more complete.

Some discussion took place on the much discussed subject of the Memorial Hall, and council instructed the secretary to write the local branch of the Canadian Legion, making it clear that the council is prepared to take over the hall with the understanding that it be put in good condition. If for any unseen reason the town should be unable to make the necessary improvements, the council would willingly turn the hall back to the Legion, should the Legion so desire. However, the council is confident that a plan will be worked out to put the hall in first class shape without too much difficulty. A plebiscite is expected later this year to let the people express their wishes in the matter.

The yearly report of the Municipal Inspector was produced and read by the Mayor.

The matter of sidewalk repairs was discussed and it was left to the public works committee to decide what sidewalks would be repaired. But the expenditure should not exceed $500. It was decided to close off the section of wooden sidewalk at the corner of Block 9 as it is considered unsafe. In the coming year's appropriations, funds will be provided for completely rebuilding this corner, both street and sidewalk. As the sidewalk contract undertaken by George Langevin is now completed, authorization was given for payment in full.

A letter was read from a property owner, in which a complaint was made about the lack of proper drainage in one section of the town. An investigation is to be made.

Council decided to write the Director of Lands and Forests, asking that a survey be made of Big Island and the approach to the area. It was also decided that the name, "Big Island," should be changed to "Lac la Biche Island".

An invitation is to be given the newly-appointed Northern Development Commission to pay a visit to Lac la Biche.

Four councillors and the mayor and secretary-treasurer were prseent at the meeting, as well as about 12 interested ratepayers.

Lac La Biche Sea Cadet Corps To Begin New Training Season

Now that the holidays are over and school has started again, the Lac la Biche Sea Cadet Corps, Exeter, will next week inaugurate their new training season.

The past year was a very active one with the launching of the new training vessel and the operation of the summer camp, and now the corps is looking forward with confidence to the new term.

The first parade will be held at the Sea Cadet headquarters opposite the Dr. Swift school and will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, Sept. 10. New recruits will be most welcome and are asked to be present at this parade.

Anyone wishing to join the Sea Cadets are urged to be at the meeting in order that they may get started without any undue delay. The ages for Sea Cadets are from 14 to 18, while for the Junior boys in the Navy League Cadets the age is from 12 to 14. A few younger ones are admitted if they are big enough to wear the standard size uniform for the official age group.

More cadets are needed for the activities planned for the corps, so this appeal is made to those interested to be present next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

Control of Perennial Weeds

Many shallow-rooted perennial weeds do not persist under cultivation and in vigorous growing pasture. They may be controlled by one or two applications of 2,4-D at 1 lb. per acre. Dandelion, plantain, chickory and hawkweed fall into this category.

Deep-rotted perennial weeds, on the other hand, especially those with roots or rhizomes which spread horizontally in the soil are not easily controlled. Canada thistle, perennial sow thistle, toad flax, leafy spurge, and hoary cress are examples of this type of weed. The roots of these plants are not destroyed by ordinary cultural practices and new shoots invariably arise from root fragments and from deep parts undisturbed by implements.

It is extremely difficult and costly to eradicate these once they become firmly established, reports Dr. James R. Hay, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Thus, current recommendations are aimed at reducing the infestations to the point where the weed does not cause crop losses, rather than a total elimination.

Intensive summerfallow and use of selective herbicides are the two most effective means for control of these weeds and for best results both should be used. Unfortunately, although selective herbicides will kill the tops of most deep-rooted perennial weeds they are not translocated to the roots in sufficient quantities to kill the whole root system. Summer-following should actually start with a fall plowing and the area should be thoroughly worked throughout the following spring and summer. The purpose of a summerfallow is to exhaust the food reserves in the roots, thus at no time, should the weed be allowed to recover to the point where the roots are being replenished from the above ground growth.

Herbicides may be used in place of one or more cultivations during the summerfallow year. In many cases, the inclusion of such a treatment (1-2 lb. 2,4D ester per acre) in mid-summer has greatly improved the effects of the summerfallow.

Although 80-90 per cent reduction may be expected, control is usually not complete, especially if the weather conditions have not been favourable, so that after a summerfallow year there are usually some roots still surviving and ready to reinfest the area again. Thus, when the weed appears in the succeeding crop it should be sprayed with a selective herbicide such as 2,4-D to further keep the weed suppressed. Application should be made at as high a rate as the crop will safely tolerate and should be delayed until the weed has fully emerged, otherwise, shoots not yet through the ground will be missed.

Financial Problems Discussed At Caucus

EDMONTON — Municipal-provincial financial problems were the major points of discussion Monday when Social Credit members of the Legislature and cabinet ministers opened a two-day caucus.

Press committee member C. E. Gerhart, member for Edmonton, said the caucus was to "evaluate proposals on methods of municipal-provincial financing" in order to have something concrete for the party's fall caucus. The regular party caucus is set for November.

A report from a departmental committee under Welfare Minister Jorgenson was to be given on findings and recommendation regarding welfare services. The committee was set up by the last session of the legislature.

Only two government members were missing at the opening session. They were J. C. Landeryou, member for Lethbridge, and F. J. Niddrie, member for Olds, who were expected later.

Rain Uncovers Grass Hidden Hole

EDMONTON—A thin matting of grass roots in the backyard lawn of Arthur Erickson, 9918 - 88 Ave., has for 30 years or more been the disguise of a rotting 30-foot-deep well.

The hazard was discovered after heavy rains washed a small hole in the lawn covering. Further excavation revealed the crib rings of the five-foot diameter water well and a 30-foot drop to the murky, stagnant water at the bottom.

Mrs. Erickson said the family, with their 11-year-old daughter, had lived in the house about three years and had seen no previous sign of the well.

"It makes me sick to think of how often all of us have stood on top of it to talk to the neighbors," she said. "We had our two grandchildren staying with us for the summer, playing over it every day."

The city water works department said water works were installed in the house in 1927 and the well could not have been used since that time. It will be filled in.

This FALL for your GRASSLANDS and STUBBLE

BUY AND APPLY NITROGEN

. . . the plant food your crop uses most for bigger, better yields in 1958!

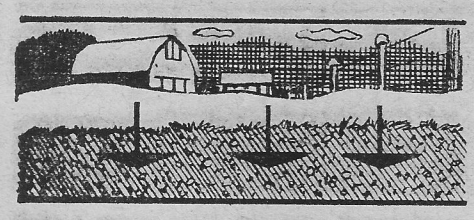
Your crops use more Nitrogen than any other plant food - for example, 40 bushels of wheat take away 47 lbs. of Nitrogen from your soil; 2 tons of brome hay take away over 60 lbs. of Nitrogen. This plant food must be replaced or your crops will be starved.

Spread Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizers* on stubble or pasture NOW! Next Spring, even before you can get on your land, grasslands are growing with fall-applied Nitrogen. Nitrogen put on stubble land this Fall speeds decomposition and is available as vital plant food when you seed in the Spring.

FOR GRASSLANDS

Nitrogen applied in the Fall means better forage growth. It means pasture is ready for grazing earlier, feeds more livestock and regrows faster. When you can put twice as many head on every acre, get them on the land from 3 to 4 weeks sooner in the Spring and keep them there longer, you make more money.

What's more, forage grown with Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizers* tastes better and is richer in essential proteins and minerals - you'll see the difference in fatter steers and heifers or increased milk production!



Melting snows carry Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizer to the root zone.

You can apply Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizer with a Universal Fertilizer Attachment by removing the bottom ends of the attachment hoses from the top of the grain ribbon tubes . . . with a worn-out grain drill with the furrow openers removed . . . or with a regular broadcast spreader.

FOR STUBBLE

Nitrogen on stubble speeds up decomposition of valuable crop residues. In Spring plant food from both crop residue and Nitrogen Fertilizer is available to the new crop. Young plants benefit immediately from the readily available food in Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizers*.

When you choose your High Nitrogen Fertilizer* from the Elephant Brand line, you add these benefits to your Fall-Fertilizing program.

HIGH ANALYSIS — more plant food in each bag, best value for your fertilizer dollar.
HIGH AVAILABILITY — all Elephant Brand's plant food content can be used by the growing plant.
HIGH WATER SOLUBILITY - dissolve readily in soil moisture to give quick-acting, easily absorbed plant food.
FREE FLOWING — Uniform pellet-sized granules; fast and easy to apply.
